Project Management Institute. Pune-Deccan India

CHAPTER ARTICLE BRIEF

Volunteer spotlight: Rupali Rao

Original publication: 2024-01-07 | Volunteer voices

Abstract

This volunteer profile introduces Rupali Rao Jitkar and her contribution to the visual identity and communication of Pune Women's League. The interview connects her design and technology background with her chapter experience, and reflects on motivation, collaboration, managing priorities and learning through volunteering. Roles and experiences are presented in the context of the original profile.

Key highlights

- Creative and design skills support the visibility of chapter and PWL initiatives.
- Volunteering creates opportunities to connect with practitioners and develop leadership skills.
- Supportive teams help volunteers balance commitments and deliver shared work.
- Clear priorities, checklists and flexible planning support effective contribution.

This PDF is a concise article brief prepared from the chapter's published account. The original article remains available through the source link.

Read the original chapter article:

https://pmipunechapter.com/volunteer-of-the-month/volunteer-of-the-month-rupali-rao/